Plumbing

J. H. McGuirk the plumber, is now situated in the Opera House block and all jobs of plumbing and plumbing in trust to his care will be attended to in a workmanlike manner, and you don't have to mortgage your house to pay for it.

MILK! MILK!!

Fresh, pure, clean and unadulterated milk delivered morning and evening at any part of the city. No water, no dirt; nothing but milk. One quart one month, $2.50. Ross & Swall, may 19th.

Ice! Ice!! Ice!!!

People wanting ice will leave their order at Doe Benton's Livery Stable. Ice delivered to any part of the city. may 12th.

—WANTED—A partner, either active or silent, to invest in $500 to $1,000 in a legitimate, profitable business, no competition, in Carson City. Address, MERCANTILE, Carson Postoffice, je13th.

Siddons, the watchmaker and jeweler, has opened a shop opposite the Opera House, where he is prepared to attend to all work in his line as formerly. Watches, clocks, jewelry etc repaired and warranted.

George McLoughlin is the sole agent in Carson for the "New Domestic" sewing machine. A machine which is now at the acknowledged head of the long line of machines offered the public Perfect in action noiseless and lasting.

—WANTED—A situation as a clerk, by a colored man who understands his business. Apply at this office. may 20th.

—Dick Thomas of Washoe was in the city yesterday.

—Tomorrow will be the biggest day ever known in this city.

—Mr. Cradlebaugh of bridge notoriety was in the city yesterday.

—Tuttle's washing machine can now be seen at the Arlington House.

—Mrs. Jennie Banning, (colored) wants a situation in a private family. Apply at this office.

—J. A. Blossom of Battle Mountain has entered the lists as a Republican nominee for Governor.

—A farmer in Condon, Neb., advertises for a wife, and specifies that she must be 6 feet tall, weigh 250 pounds, have red hair and be an atheist.

—Pupils of the Public School who desire to ride in the procession of the 3rd, are requested to be at the central building promptly at 9 o'clock, and they are especially asked to bring as many flowers with them as possible.

—In no other medical preparation have the results of the most intelligent study and scientific inquiry been so steadily and progressively utilized as in Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases.

—No injurious effects can follow the Use of Ayer's Ague Cure in the treatment of malarial diseases. It contains, besides a specific and unfailing antidote for miasmatic poison; other remedial agents which unite to expel the poisonous humors, purify the system and leave it in a healthy and invigorated condition.

—The Iowa Prohibitory law has brought a railroad into trouble. A firm desired to ship 5,000 barrels of beer into the State, and the road refused to carry them fearing the legal penalties. The firm has now brought suit, and the railroad, between its obligations as a common carrier and the risk of violating the Iowa Constitution, is thinking of taking to the woods.

—Quite a number of celebrities in pugilistic circles from San Francisco will be here to attend the Slattery and Williams prize fight. Amongst them Billy Hamilton, the light-weight champion of the Coast, who is willing to fight any man of his weight in this part of the country. He will set-to with one of our local light-weights.

The Glove Match.

The proposition that Slattery can knock out Williams in eight rounds will bring a large crowd at the Opera House tomorrow. It is not considered any dead thing that Slattery can perform the contract he has undertaken. He is a man with a long reach and plenty of steam. He is known as a right handed fighter, which is not advantageous if opposed by a good boxer. His blows are very powerful, but his delivery is slow. He has won several warmly contested fights and is not afraid of severe punishment.

Williams is still at work in the car shops, and in good condition. He is a good deal older than Slattery and was never whipped but once. It was for the middle-weight championship of England. He has won twelve ring fights and is a skillful tactician.

His friends say that he will be in the ring when time for the 9th round is called, provided he has not already done up his man.

The gloves will be the "lightest known to the trade," three ounces, and are on exhibition at the Temple saloon.

Fourth of July Order.

The President of the Day with all designated to participate in the Civil Exercises, Judges of the Federal, Supreme and District Court, with their officers. State officials and the Clergy are requested to assemble at the office of Secretary of State tomorrow morning July 3d at 10 o'clock sharp. Carriages will be in readiness for their accommodation at the West front of the Capitol.

J. H. KINKEAD

Chairman of Committee.

The Hawthorne Case.

Yesterday Constable Hawthorne was tried before Justice Lang on the charge of assault and battery. The complaining witness was a negro, who claims that Hawthorne struck him on the head with a cane. The decision was reserved until 2 o'clock today.

—WANTED—A situation in a private family, to do general housework. Apply at this office. may 20th.

HOME OF THE FOSSILS.

A Plan for Providing a Retreat for Aged and Infirm Politicians.

About a year ago the editor of the APPEAL located some land at the foot of the North Carson mine near the Hot Springs and proceeded to clear the sage brush and cultivate the soil. Of course his act drew down upon him the ribald laughter of an unthinking and unprogressive press.

A good many people imagined that the idea was to start a ranch and live off the profits of mangle wuzul beets and snowflake potatoes.

Such, however, was not the idea at all. The purposes were purely philanthropic in their character.

It occurred to the writer some years ago that what was particularly needed in this State was a home for aged and decrepit politicians after they had passed beyond the stage of usefulness and lost their grip on primaries and conventions. The time will soon arrive when they will want a refuge and retreat away from the torment and unseemly strife of political life, where they can rest under the shade trees and review the scenes of the past, drink old Bourbon and have an easy, quiet time.

With this idea in mind, the writer has sunk an artesian well with a capacity of about 10,000 gallons a day, and planted several thousand cotton wood trees; also fruit and shade trees of the finest varieties. In about ten years these trees will make a delightful grove in the midst of which the sparkling murmuring waters of the ever flowing artesian wells will lend a peculiar enchantment. Under the trees will be benches, hammocks and easy chairs with stands for cards, cigars and whisky.

As we before remarked this will be in about ten years and by that time we expect to get an appropriation from the State of at least $25,000 to provide for "The Home of Old Fossil Politicians." The State could make the thing self-sustaining by setting apart 500,000 acres of land to be used and put in an irreducible fund with 4 per cent. bonds running 99 years free from taxation, etc., etc. When we get things in shape we expect to have sumptuous quarters for such old broken down hacks as will be cast upon the charities of the world.

A large house divided in dormitories could be built at a small expense.

The first ward would contain Jimmy Fair, Jewett Adams and Major Garrard.

Second Ward—J. C. Hagerman, Col. Ellis and Major Stone.

Third Ward—W. E. F. Deal, Old Kit and George Cassidy.

They would include all the Democratic wards, then would come a Republican department on another floor.

First Ward—William Stewart, R. M. Daggett, Tom Wren and C. C. Powning.

Second Ward—Sam C. Wright, Black Wallace and Charley Stoddard.

Third Ward—H. M. Yerington, D. L. Bliss and C. C. Cleveland.

Fourth Ward—Enoch Strother, C. C. Stevenson and Tom Riekey.

The inmates of the establishment would be called up by a gong at 6 in the Winter and 5 in the Summer, and all seated at the same table.

Mush and beans with hominy and molasses could be cheaply furnished for breakfast, with a cold collation at noon, and roast chicken, cold turkey and champagne at 5 o'clock.

During the day they could loaf round under the trees, catch trout in the fish pond, and occasionally hold a Convention to nominate a State ticket.

Once a week they could be allowed to go in town, accompanied by a keeper, and once a month allowed to receive visits from their relatives.

In Summer they could hoe the corn, irrigate the potatoes and feed the pigs, and in the Winter, shell corn, braid door mats of the husks and play innocent games on the barn floor.

We think this a really good scheme, and any politician who feels that he is about to be shelved by his party, can look forward to the time when his last days will be spent in comparative peace and comfort.

If the Legislature will only stand in we will make a whole lot of people happy.

REMARKABLE WELLS.

The Sierra Valley Folks Getting Plenty of Water.

Although there are over a hundred wells in Sierra Valley, they all continue to flow steadily. In one or two instances neighboring wells seems to have struck the same body of water, and cut each other off partially, but the general answer is that numbers do not seem to effect the flow, although there is a difference in different seasons of the year. The farmers are considering the idea of screwing on a cap so as to shut in the flow and save waste, but they are all afraid it will spoil their wells and dare not try it. There are five machines in the valley now, and each one puts down a well a week. Walter Ede has bought a machine of his own, and says he is going to put down fifty wells in a row in his pasture. They will be 200 feet apart with an irrigating ditch as far as the water will run. John McNair has a fine well the deepest in the valley. It is over a thousand feet and was put down 500 feet in one day, or an inch a minute. Mr. Witse says the wells will irrigate a great deal more ground than was expected. By careful usage his well wets 25 acres of ground and he says he would not take $2,000 for it. Most people imagine the flowing well is a new thing in the valley, but it is not so. A little well bored with a hand auger in 1833 or 4, by Edwight on the farm owned by W. A. Robbins, still flows a small stream, and another was bored about the same time on the H. P. Robbins' ranch. W. A. Robbins now has a machine of his own that goes through rocky ground, and is putting down his own wells.

THE JACK RABBIT PEST.

Destroying the Crops and Stopping a Mower.

Charley McDeid reports that jack-rabbits are as thick in Grass Valley as grasshoppers were in Kansas some years ago. The pests are devastating ranches and leaving the valley destitute of every vestige of vegetation. At Guthrie's ranch a person can sit on a fence for fifteen minutes and see hundreds of them every evening. As there is not room for them all at once in the alfalfa fields, they take turns in getting through the fence and feasting on the green grass. Last week they were so numerous in the center of an alfalfa field that was being mowed, that numbers of them were impaled on the sickle guards and the mowers had to be stopped until the rabbits were frightened away. This seems improbable, but Mr. McDeid, who is a reliable man, vouches for the truth of the statement. He says they raise a dust like a flock of sheep when frightened, and he thinks thousands of them must necessarily die of starvation during the coming Fall and Winter, as there is not vegetation enough in the country to keep them alive.

It is suggested that the Legislature offer a bounty for rabbit scalps otherwise the country will be laid waste by them. Once or twice before, since the settlement of the country by the whites, rabbits were as numerous as at present, but a disease, in the shape of a grub, which it was said, was deposited in their backs by a fly, broke out among them and killed thousands of them.—Silver State.

INDEPENDANCE WIPED OUT.

The Loss Upwards of $400,000.

Special to the APPEAL.]

KEELER, July 1st.—The fire at Independence yesterday wiped out the town. It started in the Northern portion of the city in a blacksmith shop. There was a high wind at the time from the North and although every effort was made to stay the progress of the flames they spread Southward and soon the Court House was afire; after that the fire went down the street so rapidly that all efforts to stay its progress were useless, and every business house in the city was destroyed. The Court House was burned with all the records.

The loss is estimated as high as $400,000 with but about $50,000 insurance. The Independent Office was on a side street and escaped.

—The ladies of the Presbyterian Church will have a lunch stand in the store formerly occupied by M. Cohn on Saturday July 3d. Open all day and evening. Price of lunch including ice cream or berries 50c.
